Putnam fell before the masterly itching of Bill Boucher Saturday aft-encon, and one dope play was all that aved the home team from a shutout. The most interesting event of the senoon, and one dope play was all that any the home team from a shutout. As it was the score was 4 to 1.

The first trimming Putnam has received on their home grounds this season signalized the entrance of Danielson into the league. Not that other teams have failed to do the trick, but to incidentally recall that Danielson and Putnam always have enjoyed doing things to each other in the sporting line. Of tourse, the Danielson team is the transferred Norwich Taftwille team, and the visitors particularly enjoyed the victory as a evener of balances and a satisfaction for the trounding. Putnam handed them at Sachem fark a week before.

Danielson went after the game from the start, and with two out and the bases full in the first. Casey eingled, scoring Greenwood and Leopoid. That was a mighty good beginning, and for good measure the trick was duplicated in the second inping. That was the best Benoit's men could do, and shough they go men on bases in several in inlings, there was no more scoring.

Tatro was delig the pitching stunt for the home team. His speedy balls were walloped for ten hits, one of which was a corking double to deep left off McClafferty's bat. The greater part of these safeties were bunged out in the first two limings, after which he steadied and kept the this scattered. In the fourth Labelle sneaked down from second base to steal third while Morin was walking around with the ball, and when the visiting catcher.
